

Along excellent use trail above Lake Ediza, ascending into valley leading to Mt. Ritter and Banner Peak

Pre-sunrise from camp above Nydiver Lakes

Sunrise, Mt. Ritter from camp above Nydiver Lakes

The Minarets from camp above Nydiver Lakes

Looking toward Whitebark Pass from near camp above Nydiver Lakes---
An easy traverse to the pass

Garnet Lake from Whitebark Pass

Looking at the easy Thousand Island—Garnet Lakes pass from Whitebark Pass (Thousand Island Lake in the distance).

Looking down snowfield below north side of Whitebark Pass--- don't go down this; go down rocks on the far right side of the pass

Descending the north side of Whitebark Pass; the descent is easy below this (and this part is very easy; there is little exposure below Dave's feet)

A photograph of a rugged mountain landscape. The foreground and middle ground are dominated by dark, rocky terrain with scattered patches of snow. The snow is concentrated in a large field on the right side and smaller patches on the left. The sky is a clear, bright blue. The overall scene is a high-altitude, alpine environment.

Looking up at the north side of Whitebark Pass; descend on the far left side of the snowfield.

Banner Peak from Thousand Island Lake

Lots of flowers, even in September.

Fireweed

Not identified (yet)

Badger Lake

The High Trail, heading toward Agnew Meadow

The view from the High Trail: the Minarets, Mt. Ritter, and Banner Peak